I understand that as an auditor at Detroit Mercy Law, I will not receive academic credit for this course. I have reviewed the Detroit Mercy Law Student Handbook (See under law.udmercy.edu/students) and agree to obey all rules that apply to me. I understand that I must hold a Juris Doctorate Degree to audit classes. I further understand that an official copy of my law school transcripts must be submitted to Detroit Mercy Law Admissions Office prior to auditing a course.

Law school graduates seeking to audit a course must first obtain the approval of the Detroit Mercy Law Registrar's Office. All audits are subject to space availability in the class. A separate application must be completed for each course an auditor is seeking to audit. Course audit applications will remain open until a week before the start of a new term.

No credit hours are earned when a course is audited. The tuition is waived for alumni auditing a course; the tuition for non-Detroit Mercy Law graduates is the prevailing per credit hour rate ($1,457 in 2018-19).
